FRIDAY, MAY 26,

An Evening Echo.

It is wondrous how the truer we become, the more unerringly we know the ring of truth, discern whether a man be true or not, and can fasten at once upon the rising lie in word and look and dissembling act.—F. W. ROBERTSON.

Looks as though "Hite and Harmony" are going to be great winners in the primary June 6.

Hite for Senator.

In the closing days of the primary election campaign it stands out that William F. Hite of Huntington, in maintaining a strong lead in the race for the United States senatorial nomination.

Mr. Hite has conducted a clean, dignified campaign, in which the outstanding characters of his nature—fairness and capability—have been foremost. He made a splendid start and has held the lead from the beginning. He will make a splendid senatorial candidate, and an able representative.

A vote for Hite is a vote well cast.

Others Besides Abe.

The Shinnston News both in its news and editorial columns indulges in considerable sarcasm and some abuse of the Telegram and of some of the supporters of Judge Robinson for governor. The News has a right to its opinion the same as the Telegram has, and that right has never been questioned by anyone, but the Telegram denounces the insinuating abuse in this week's News as uncalled for and unjust.

The directing genius of that newspaper has always had the loyal support of the Telegram, as well as those against whom he now directs his poisonous attacks. Campaigns are short. Candidates come and go and supporters are soon forgotten. Don't let your enthusiasm for a candidate cause you to lose your temper and break friendships that have existed for a generation. Better stick to the home folks, brother. You may not see "your cousin" again for a long time.

Not a "Legacy from Taft."

Ex-Secretary Knox's Pittsburg speech ought to be read by every one who still cherishes the delusion that the Mexican muddle was inherited by President Wilson from the Taft administration, and the further misconception that Huerta gained the presidency of Mexico as a consequence of the assassination of Madero, says the Philadelphia Ledger. In that absolutely lucid and convincing exposition of the fact concerning Mexico Mr. Knox speaks from first-hand information, for his tenure at that state department was unbroken throughout President Taft's entire term of office. He makes it clear why "recognition" was not extended to Huerta, the time which elapsed between Huerta's succession and the termination of Taft's term having been only twelve days—much too short a period in which to dispose of the diplomatic preliminaries and to ascertain whether Huerta's government possessed the necessary ability to maintain itself and fulfill international obligations.

It is thus made plain that President Wilson is alone responsible for the change in American policy, the fruits of which have been indescribable anarchy, the sacrifice of American lives and an untold waste of blood and treasure. This cannot be skirted or even shared with others, and whatever the outcome of the present ticklish state of our relations with Mexico, the American people will look to Wilson alone for an accounting.

Another University Boy.

Clark S. Stathers, of Lewis county, well remembered in Morgantown as one of the popular and prominent leaders of student life during his course at the university, says the Morgantown Post-Chronicle. Since graduation he has risen to a similar position of leadership in the continuation of school of actual life. His career in his chosen profession has been that of a strong and successful lawyer, and his record in that field of activity fully entitles him to aspire to the office of attorney general of West Virginia for which office he is a candidate, subject to the decision of the Republican voters in the state primary of June 6.

From his university days Mr. Stathers has been an earnest and enthusiastic student of public questions, and this interest in affairs of state has prompted him to take the prominent part in politics that becomes a patriotic citizen. He has been a consistent and loyal champion of the principles of the Republican party. He is a forceful and capable public speaker. His nomination for the Republican ticket would be a great honor to the party, and to that ticket an element of strength for the campaign that is to follow the statewide primary. He has many friends in Monongalia county who will be interested in the announcement of his candidacy as it appears in the Post-Chronicle. His candidacy has been well received by the Republican press of the state, and should he win in the primary, and his chances look good, he may count on getting the full strength of the vote of a united party in the general election, and the state may count on having an able and conscientious attorney general.

People Believe in Reed.

Stuart F. Reed is a native son of West Virginia who has made his way upward in spite of early difficulties and meager opportunities to an honored position among the scholars and statesmen of his day, says the Webster Republican.

His career has been brilliant as well as useful to the people of the state. He has stood for the best and has ever been the champion of the average man. Whether at work back on the farm or teaching a country school, whether in the state senate or presiding over a department of state his work has always borne the stamp of his talented personality.

He was born and reared among the West Virginia hills, far from railroads and towns, among the plain, honest, common people, and no honors that have come to him have ever spoiled him in the least or chilled the warmth of the greeting or the sincerity of the hand-clasp he offers to the poorest and humblest citizen in the land. The man with the hickory shirt and the brogan shoes knows that Stuart Reed's office door swings as wide its welcome to him as it does to the statesman or millionaire.

The people believe in him, admire him, and vote for him when they get a chance. In 1912 his total vote in the state (132,513) was the largest cast for a state official. In the eleven counties of the new Third congressional district Mr. Reed's majority in these eleven counties was 2,007 greater than the congressional majority. In Harrison, his home county, he ran 333 ahead of the Republican congressman. These unmistakable evidences of his popularity, together with his scholarly attainments, his superior fitness and his high character, account for his strength as a candidate and the widespread sentiment that his nomination for Congress will strengthen the Republican ticket in every county of the district.

THE CAPTAIN OF INDUSTRY.

"Oh, horse! thou faithful beast—
"Thy work has almost ceased!"
—From "The Bard of Skinkerville."

On April 2, 1896, there were 23,876,406 horses earning their oats by the sweat of their brows in America. On April 2, 1916, there were only 3,767,001 horses doing ditto. (See Izzah Swank's "Quadrupeds and Horses.")

To the average reader, the foregoing bit of information will cause no loss of sleep, but Hanwell Bobbins, moodily turning the pages of "Quadrupeds and Horses," had not slept more than thirty-six hours in the last four nights.

"Bobbins' Horse Remedy for Everything" was down to his last million dollars. And every day saw five hundred more horses supplanted by automobiles.

"I am a ruined man!" cried Hanwell Bobbins. But suddenly he happened to open the book at the back end, a thing that had never occurred to him to do before. He read:

"Automobile Birth Rate: On April 2, 1896, there were only 4,556 automobiles in America. On April 2, 1916, there were 54,767,007."

Everlastingly seizing his fountain pen, Hanwell Bobbins wrote out an order for the immediate delivery of six billion labels to read: "Bobbins' Oil for Autos! Can be used in place of gasoline; prevents punctures and keeps the spark plug moist."

"I'll just change the labels on my Remedy bottles and double the price," chuckled Hanwell Bobbins, and in five months he was worth a billion.
